

German E-commerce Control and its FUTURE MISSION

*Internet control - the final frontier.
These are the voyages of G@ZIELT- the German internet control unit for food, feed, special consumer products and tobacco.*

Its continuing mission: to search for non-compliant products and disclose it to the competent authorities, to enforce the compulsory registration for online food and feed business operators and to boldly make controls where no one has controlled before...

The background is a dark blue, futuristic digital tunnel. It is filled with numerous glowing blue lines that radiate from a bright light source at the far end of the tunnel, creating a sense of depth and movement. The lines are of varying thickness and brightness, some appearing as sharp beams while others are softer, ethereal glows. The overall atmosphere is high-tech and digital.
