The context for the 2018-2019 joint Work Programme

The European Sectoral Social Dialogue in Education (ESSDE) was launched in 2010, under the Articles 154-155 of the TFEU. This came after four years of initiation and start-up processes carried out by the ETUCE and from early 2009 onwards, together with EFEE. Since its establishment in 2010, the course of the European Sectoral Social Dialogue on Education (ESSDE) has been confronted by obstacles and challenges to overcome. Agreeing on national representation, identifying and organising partners, and organising at EU level, are only some of the challenges the ESSDE has been facing. In the broader context, the launch of the ESSDE coincided with the aftermath of the financial and economic crisis of 2008, which has resulted in social dialogue being under strain in several countries and at European level in the face of more immediate economic concerns.

Only in 2015, the European Commission made clear that one of its major tasks would be the relaunch of social dialogue, including at sectoral level. As a follow-up to this renewed will, the European Commission and the Presidency of the Council committed to promote and to improve discussions and negotiations between the social partners and institutions, at national and European level, on policy areas which go beyond the traditional scope of Article 154. Additionally, the European Pillar of Social Rights, hailed by the European Commission President Juncker as an ambitious initiative paving the way for the establishment of a more social Europe, has opened a new momentum for social dialogue as key practice conducive to growth, social cohesion and equality. Laying at the very foundation of the Pillar endorsed by the European leaders in November 2017, there is the right of everyone to quality and inclusive education, training and life-long learning.

Embracing the commitment of the EU to deepening social dialogue as central to the delivery of social rights, and in particular to implement the right to quality and inclusive education for all, and drawing on the experience acquired through a decade of joint activities, as European social partners in education, we recognise that the ESSDE is now progressing towards an effective and efficient social dialogue, grounded in a stronger commitment of its members to reach meaningful social dialogue outcomes which are valuable both at European and at national level, regional and local level, and are based on clear objectives, mutual trust, respect and cooperation. With this in mind, we also recognise the vital need to continuously promote the ESSDE potentials and to further develop our social dialogue, which thus remains a high priority in the Education social partners agenda.

We deem it important to consider in our work the impact of economic, social and demographic developments on the education sector and to continue to focus our joint work on topics that have sufficient common ground for discussion and for initiatives with a clear added value for cooperation at European level. Herewith we take also in consideration the agenda of the European Commission in the field of education, employment and social affairs, in particular the work of DG Education and Culture and DG Employment, Social Affairs and Inclusion, including all the EU efforts to actively support Member States in improving the quality of education and training in line with the global sustainable development agenda. We wish to contribute to the improvement of the quality of education in Europe thereby focusing on the modernisation of the education sector, its managements and its teaching personnel, and its working environment. In all our work we keep in mind the gender equality principle.

The European social partners in Education will consequently continue to keep in close and frequent contact to ensure that - where it is appropriate to do so - they lobby the European Commission and other organisations jointly.

At the second meeting of the ESSDE in January 2011 the European social partners in Education set up three working groups (WGs) on specific topics:

- WG1: Quality in Education
- WG2: The Demographic challenges
- WG3: Higher Education and Research

Furthermore, in 2013 an additional working group was organised on the topic of Public/Private Education. In 2014, EFEE and ETUCE decided to shift away from this strict division in different working groups and to discuss instead several topics in one working group. Only WG3 on higher education and research has its own meetings.

During 2010-2011, the European social partners in Education worked together on three projects focusing on specific topics:

- Trans-regional cooperation in lifelong learning among education stakeholders (ETUCE-led)
- Leadership and Governance in Schools as instruments for improving student results and preparing them for lifelong learning (EFEE-led)
- Teachers’ work-related stress: European-wide Survey—Assessment, Comparison and Evaluation of the Impact of Psychosocial Factors on Teachers at their Workplace in the EU (ETUCE-led)
- Promotion, awareness —raising and dissemination of the multi-sectoral guidelines to tackle third-party violence and harassment related to work

- Recruitment and retention in the education sector, a matter of Social Dialogue (ETUCE-led)
- Social partners in education concerned about violence in schools: How to prevent and mitigate third party violence and harassment in schools? (ETUCE-led)
- Self-evaluation of schools and teachers as instruments for identifying future professional needs (EFEE-led)
- Teacher unions preventing early school leaving through the use of ICT in education (ETUCE-led)
- The development of the teaching profession in times of the economic crisis as a key task for social partners in education. Finding joint strategies to tighten the links between education and the labour market (ETUCE-led)
- European Policy Network on School Leadership (run by FORTH Research Institute in partnership with EFEE and ETUCE)
And in 2012-2013 the ESSDE agreed on five joint texts:

- Joint report from the social partners in the education sector on the implementation of the multi-sectoral guidelines to tackle third party violence and harassment related to work

During 2014-2015, the following projects, linked to the ESSDE, were carried out:

- The European sectoral social dialogue in education - Promoting its potentials through strengthened capacities and knowledge at national level – Capacity Building I project (ETUCE led)
- Supporting early career researchers in Higher Education in Europe – The role of employers and trade unions (led by EFEE member: Universities and Colleges Employers Association of the UK)
